How consultation helped my business.
Bill, Vice President of Manufacturing Operations

The Issue—We were experiencing 10-12 recordable accidents each year and were unsure of how to address this issue. We wanted to make our employees and facility safer, but didn’t have a game plan to do so. We felt that if we could create a culture of safety, we would accomplish our goals.

The Decision—After being approached by MOSH Consultation we determined this option would provide the highest level of expertise and it’s FREE! The consultants were willing to work with us on our schedule and address our most serious concerns first. We found that our employees had a myriad of concerns, and were not shy about expressing them. We realized that if we wanted to create a culture of safety, we would have to take all of the employee concerns seriously. The MOSH Consultation program gave us a framework to accomplish this.

The Result—We have worked 1,853 days without a lost time accident and just recently we received a rebate check from our Workers’ Compensation insurance carrier. What we have learned from MOSH Consultation has permeated throughout our company. The consultants taught us to analyze near misses and recordable accidents. This experience has taught our employees to operate as a team—not just focused on production, but on big picture issues. Our entire operation has been strengthened through the MOSH Consultation program.
